ONE DEATH MARKS ILLINOIS SHOPMEN'S STRIKE

GUARD KILLS TWELVE YEAR OLD BOY WHEN HE FIRES ON STRIKER

James Fitzgerald is Instantly Killed and His Father and a Passerby are Injured at Clinton—Slayer is Arrested and Spirited Out Of Town—Troops are Sent to the Scene

(By The Associated Press)

CLINTON, Ill., July 8.—First trouble here in the railroad shopmen's strike occurred today when a guard employed by the Illinois Central railroad, shot and killed James Fitzgerald, 12, wounded his father, James Fitzgerald, Sr., a striker, by shooting him through the leg, and wounded a passerby, Elmer Hankinson.

The latter was shot through both legs.

It is said the trouble started when the guard told strike sympathizers to keep off the right of way, declaring he would "shoot the first man who stepped over the dead line." Fitzgerald, it is claimed, stepped over, whipped out a pistol and invited the guard to "begin shooting."

The boy died shortly after being wounded. He was shot through the right lung. The father and Hankinson were taken to the hospital.

The guard was arrested by Sheriff Persons. The sheriff and two deputies immediately drove him out of the county, no one knows where, and had not returned to Clinton up to 7 o'clock tonight.

All men working at the Clinton shops have deserted their jobs and the guards stationed at the shop have fled.

Anxiety is expressed by many residents who fear a further outbreak before the arrival of the troops. The striking shopmen are congregating in groups thruout the town and it is said are not pacified. Feeling is still at fever pitch and it would not take much, residents claim, to start another outbreak.

Storm Stores for Arms.

This afternoon strike sympathizers stormed stores in attempts to purchase fire arms. Police and deputy sheriffs inside the stores attempted to keep the men out, but their efforts were practically futile.

William F. Horn, one of the strikers, an eye witness to the shooting, gave the following account of the trouble this afternoon:

"I crossed the Alexander street crossing to the north side where it it was being picketed and saw the 'scabs' and guards coming toward us. I took one of the 'scabs' by the arm and said: 'surely boys you are not going to take our jobs.' Special Agent Dill drew a gun from his pocket but replaced it as soon as I let go the fellow's arm. Dill told me to stand back, which I did. The guards went on down the tracks with their men. We began to plead with them and were ordered back.

"The guards began cursing us and as they did so they drew their guns and began to fire directly at us. The Fitzgerald lad was hit early in the firing. There must have been fifty shots fired. The boy was about 50 feet to one side of the pickets lying flat on the grass. When he was hit. He never got up. None of the pickets were armed. I ran behind a tree when the firing began."

Since early morning the strikers started congregating about the railroad yards and shops and by noon practically the entire body had gathered in the yards.

Stories of how the trouble started varied.. The strikers claim the guards started it and the guards claim the strikers were the first to fight.

Several eye witnesses to the shooting claim that about 1 o'clock this afternoon the strikers became uneasy and some one threw several stones at the guards. One of the guards told the strikers to keep off the right of way, declaring he would "shoot the first man who stepped over the dead line." Fitzgerald, it is said, stepped over the dead line, whipped out a gun and told the guard to "start shooting."

The guard, drawing his gun, fired at Fitzgerald, witnesses claim. One of the bullets entered the right lung of Fitzgerald's son. Another shot entered Fitzgerald's right leg and through his left foot. A third bullet went through both of Hankison's legs just above the knee.

UNCONDITIONAL ACCEPTANCE OF OFFER IS URGED

Senator Ladd Wants U. S. to Accept Ford Proposal

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 8. — Unconditional acceptance of Henry Ford's offer for purchase and lease of the Muscle Shoals projects, including the government's interests in the steam power plants at Gorgas, would be provided under a bill introduced in the senate today by Senator Ladd, Republican, North Dakota. Senator Ladd said his measure had the approval of several members of the senate agricultural committee of which he is a member.

The senator did not reveal the names of the committeemen who had approved the measure, but it was known that it was acceptable to the Democratic members. Senator Ladd in presenting the bill called attention to the expenditures made by American farmers for nitrate importations from Chile and asked the senate if "the farmers should continue to pay more than $3,000,000 annually, when Mr. Ford offers to relieve them of these burdens at Muscle Shoals."

Senator Ladd said he believed the Ford proposal would offer the best returns to the country of any development to be made at Muscle Shoals.

The measure was automatically referred to the agricultural committee.

"The reason I introduced it at this time," Senator Ladd explained, "was to get it into the hands of the committee before its meeting next Thursday night when opportunity will be given all bidders to offer their last statements on the offers they have made."

SHOOTING FOLLOWS STRIKERS' FIGHT

(By The Associated Press)

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., July 8.—First blood in the local railroad situation was shed tonight when William L. Callahan, striking steel car worker, was shot thru the leg here by William Ringhensen, boiler foreman for the Chicago & Alton, following a fist fight between the two men, which culminated with a shooting scrape. Ringheisen, it seems, remained on the job and when taunted by Callahan for his action, he resisted and the fight and shooting followed. Callahan was shot thru the thigh and his condition was reported as not serious.

GERMANY MUST LOOK TO FRANCE FOR HER RELIEF

In Present Crisis is Her Only Hope, Officials Believe

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 8—Germany, facing a political and economic situation generally admitted as most seriols, must, in the view of American officials, as expressed today, look across the Rhine to France for necessary relief.

France, it was stated today, by one official in close touch with developments in Europe, must loosen her grip on the reparations situation to lighten Germany's financial burden, or utter collapse of the former strong central power may result and a radical regime arise from the ruins.

Help from the United States, it it generally is maintained by officials here, only can be given Germany in the form of loans of private capital and Germany obtafn loans only thru the offer of sufficiently protective security to attract investors. Under the present reparations scheme, it appears to officials here that all of Germany's resources are bound to the wheel of allied payments and held close by the hand of France so that unless Germany can obtain concessions to permit of the pledging of some of her potential wealth as security, all hope of financial assistance from without must be abandoned.

The situation in Germany has been reported by American representatives in Germany of the state and commerce departments. These have been supplemented by information given by American business men who have been in Germany recently, or have reserves there with whom they are in close touch and by frequent conversations between members of the German embassy staff and public men in Washington.

France Holds the Key

All of these reports and communications were said to agree closely in certain general conclusions. The salient feature is the conviction expressed that France holds the key to the solution of this great problem of the rehabilitation of German finances and upon her attitude in the collection of the payments due under the reparation clauses of the Versailles treaty will depend the existence of the present Wirth government. Even should Germany meet the reparations installment of fifty million marks due on July 15, it was declared to be beyond reason that further payments could be expected in the near future.

The suggestion was made in an informed German quarter today that there must be recourse to the Russian system of Barter, if Germany is to go on at all. Unable to pay the American cotton grower and the copper miner in any kind of acceptable currency and without coin, the German manufacturer must offer in return for the raw material a certain proportion of the finished product into which it is made up.

NINE INJURED WHEN SANTA FE TRAIN HITS OPEN SWITCH

Engine Hits Two Cars of Gasoline, the Impact Igniting Them

(By The Associated Press)

HUTCHISON, Pans., July 8.—Running at 40 miles an hour, east bound Santa Fe train number 4 (second section) ran into an open switch at Burton, 16 miles east of here this afternoon, wrecking the train and injuring nine seriously.

Eight of the injured passengers were in the club car, the first behind the engine. It was the only wooden car in the train. The steel dining car, next behind, nosed half way thru the club car, reducing it to kindling. These cars and the engine were the only ones to leave the track.

When the train entered the switch, both the firemen and engineer jumped. S. H. Yoakum, engineer, set the air brakes before he left. Both escaped with slight cuts.

A spectacular feature of the wreck which might have been disastrous was when the engine collided with two cars of gasoline, the impact igniting them. They burned fiercely for hours.

Washington Letter Has Timely Topics

(By R. D. Sucher.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 8—(Special)—The proposal to overthrow seniority rule in Congress, sponsored by Senator McCormick of Illinois and others in the senate, raised a timely question here this week as to how Illinois members of House and Senate would fare under a change in the present procedure.

Under the seniority rule as it has been applied up to the present time, members of longest service are given the choice of committee assignments and succeed to the chairmanship of important commitees upon the retirement of members who out-rank them in length of service.

Since Illinois is represented in the senate by two first-termers and has only a few experienced members in the house, the State at present does not expect the power or influence in either branch of Congress to which its population and importance entitles it.

Both Senators McCormick and McKinley, however, have been fortunate beyond most first term members in obtaining places on important committees in the Senate.. Senator McKinley is a member of the committee on Appropriations, which recommends all appropriation bill laid before the Senate, and also has a place on the committee on Manufactures which has important functions. Senator McCormick was recently given a vacancy on the Foreign Relations Committee, which has jurisdiction over all treaties considered in the upper chamber. He is also a member of the committee on Rules which has a hand in regulating procedure and debate in the Senate.

In the House, the seniority rule has operated to put several Chicago congressmen in places of power, but with a few exceptions the down-state Illinois members have not made comfortable progress. Representative James R. Mann, Chicago, is chairman of the committee on Committees, which makes the Committee assignents in the House, and Representative Martin B. Madden, Chicago, was recently elevated to the chairanship of the powerful committee on Appropriations.

Down-state Illinois will lose a number of its best places on the House Committees at the end of the present Congress, thru the retirement of "Uncle Joe" Cannon, Danville, and William A. Rodenberg, East St. Louis.

The former speaker is a member of the committee on Appropriations. Rodenberg is chairman of the committee on Flood Control, and is line for the chairmanship of the committee on Rules. He is also a high ranking member of the committee on Elections.

Illinois will lose a coveted place on House committees next March as a result of the defeat of Representative Ira C. Copley, Aurora, in the April primary. Copley is a member of the House Ways and Means committee, which reports all tariff. taxation and bonus legislation to the House and has more power in moulding legislation than any other single committee.

The defeat of Representative Clifford Ireland, Peoria, last April lost down-state Illinois the chairmanship of the committee on Accounts, but this committee is not of great importance.

Among the new members in the delegation, Representative Allen F. Moore, Monticello, has a good assignment as a member of the committee on Roads. He is also on the committee on Territories and the committee on Expenditures in the Agricultural Department, of which latter committee Edward J. King, Galesburg, is chairman. Representative Guy Shaw, Beardstown, who defeated Henry T. Rainey, Carrollton, in 1920, eliminating the only down-state Democrat in the Illinois delegation, is a member of the committee on Immigration, Woman Suffrage and Pensions. Representative Charles E. Fuller, Belvidere is chairman of the committee on Invalid Pensions.

Illinois is the only state which has two members on the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, which has jurisdiction over the railroads and both are from the districts outside of Chicago, William J. Graham of Aledo and Edward E. Denison, Marion.

Representative Loren E. Wheeler, Springfield, is the chairman of the committee on Railways and Canals, a minor committee, and is in line for the chairmanship of the committee on the District of Columbia which administers the municipal government of the national capital. Richard Yates, representative-at-large, is a member of the Judiciary committee.

The appointment and confirmation of James H. Wilkerson as federal judge in the Northern Illinois District struck a snag here this week when President Harding

RUMORED GERMANY WILL ASK FURTHER TIME ON PAYMENTS

Paris is Not Surprised at This Tho Admitting Situation is Grave

(By The Associated Press)

PARIS, July 8.—News received here that Germany intended to ask the reparations commission for a moratorium on cash payments and that Dr. Fischer, chairman of the German war debts commission and Herr Schroeder, under secretary of the ministry of finance, had left Berlin for Paris, excited no surprise among the members of the commission.

The commission has received no comission from Berlin on the subject. The fall of the mark which recently occurred immediately aroused speculation as to what Germany would do and the conclusion most observers reached was that she would take advantage of the situation to ask further leniency.

Germany's cash payments this year and the major part of her reparations payments for 1923 would go toward meeting the Belgian priority claims and therefore there is no immediate concern among the French authorities regarding the effect of such a move by Germany on French finances, although the seriousness of German conditions is generally recognized.

FORM ASSOCIATION FOR PROMOTION OF ST. LAWRENCE SEAWAY

Incorporation Papers Were Issued at Springfield Yesterday

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, July 8.—The Great Lakes-St. Lawrence auxiliary association, formed to promote the St. Lawrence seawey to the Great Lakes announced today that incorporation papers had been forwarded to the secretary of state at Springfield. In addition to a board of directors, an Illinois state committee has been named and similar organizations are planned in each lake region state, it was announced.

"This auxiliary association is the west's answer to the challenge of the opponents of the St. Lawrence project who received announcement of the raising of a $150,000 fund to defeat any plan tending to destroy New York's international trade throttling monopoly," Horace C. Gardner, president of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater Association said.

"An active campaign will be undertaken immediately to enlist the financial support of the business men and corporations of the Great Lakes region thru a moderate membership fee in the association," Mr. Gardner said.

Headquarters of the new organization have been opened here.

ROUNDHOUSE MEN OUT AT ROODHOUSE

(By The Associated Press)

ROODHOUSE, Ill., July 8.—Acting upon orders they said came from division headquarters, thirty-five men employed in the Chicago & Alton roundhouse here, as turntable men, flue blowers and fire tenders, walked out on strike this afternoon, in sympathy with the striking shopmen.

Mayor Alexander said he had reported the matter to state authorities with the comment that there was no apparent need of troops at present.

NATIONWIDE STRIKE CAUSING DISORDER ALL OVER COUNTRY

State Troops Being Mobilized Thruout Middle West

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, July 8.—The calling out of troops in Illinois, the assembling of soldiers in half a dozen other states and the intervention of the federal courts in the nation wide strike of railway shopmen marked the close of the eighth day of the walkout.

The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad tonight secured a feueral injunction here restraining picketing at the Aurora shops while earlier in the day an injunction was issued at New Orleans restraining strikers from interferring with trains on the Southern Pacific, and at Council Bluffs, Ia., the Burlington obtained a restraining order directed against striking shopmen in southern Iowa. A half dozen other railroads were expected to follow the lead of the Burlington here. Department of Justice officials at Washington were investigating reports that strike disorders were interfering with the mails.

Lieutenant Governor Sterling of Illinois tonight ordered troops to Clinton where an outbreak was threatened following a clash between Illinois Central guards and strike sympathizers in which a boy was killed and two men, one a striker were injured.

One bright ray appeared thru the threatening strike clouds tonight when D. W. Helt, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Signal Men announced that he would withhold strike orders to 14,000 signal men pending the preparation and submission of a program to the railroad labor board.

Mr. Helt's announcement was made following an all day conference with W. L. McMenimen, labor member of the board. This marked the second time within a week that members of the board have intervened to stop an addition to the strikers' ranks, walkout of 400,000 maintenance of way men having been postponed in this manner a few days ago.

Both Sides Standing Firm.

With B. M. Jewell, head of the shop crafts, and the labor board each standing firm in the attitude that peace overtures must come from the other, the railroads tonight were girding for the second week of the struggle determined to maintain uninterrupted transportation and thus break the strike.

Many roads were preparing to open their shops the first of the week when the ultimatum to strikers to return or lose their senority rights expires. Some carriers have applied for troops to protect employes and property in this move, and others are making arrangements to afford private protection to employes who remain at work and others that are being employed.

Train schedules were further disrupted today, the Missouri, Oklahoma, Kansas and Texas while the Chicago and Alton abandoned all service in and out of Bloomington, Ill., due to disorders there.

ILLINOIS MEN ARE INSPECTING WATERWAY

TORONTO, Ont., July 8.—The party of 40 Illinois men which is inspecting the St. Larence-Great Lakes water route left this afternoon for a trip down Lake Ontario and thru the St. Lawrence. Colonel W. N. Pelouze, chairman of the Illinois Great Waterways Commission is in charge of the group.

"If the United States could afford $500,000,000 for the Panama Canal it surely can afford to open the Great Lakes to the Atlantic," said State Senator Martin B. Bailey, a member of the party.

Some of the Illinoisans will go to Montreal only and others will take the Sagunay trip.

LITCHFIELD TO DEVELOP WATER SUPPLY

Litchfield, Ill., July 8.— The people of Litchfield at a special election today voted to retain the Litchfield water works and to operate the property as a public utility. The people by a majority of 1400 votes declared in favor of issuing $60,000 in bonds for the improvement of the property.

The Litchfield water works has been owned jointly by the Litchfield Water Supply Co. and the city for 30 years past. Now the city proposes thru a period of years, improvements that will cost several hundred thousand dollars. But forty-six votes were recorded against the proposal.

PRACTICALLY ENTIRE NATIONAL GUARD IS ORDERED MOBOLIZED

Colonel Taylor Says State is an Armed Camp Prepared for Any Eventualities—Acting Governor Fred E. Sterling Orders Troops Sent to Clinton—Have Full Equipment

(By The Associated Press)

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 8.—With 4,567 men and 290 officers, practically the entire strength of the Illinois National Guard, under arms tonight, the state, in the words of Colonel Frank L. Taylor, in charge of the adjutant general's office, was "an armed camp, prepared for any eventualities' in the railroad shopmen's strike.

From Rockford in the north to Cairo in the south troops were assembling.

The entire strength of the guard, except for three Chicago units and scattering units of the 130th infantry, were mobilized. Early in the evening the entire 130th infantry, excepting four units, the only full infantry regiment not in camp, was ordered to armories to be ready to move at a moment's notice.

Previous to this company B., at Champaign and regimental headquarters company at Decatur had been ordered to Clinton where rioting occurred this afternoon.

The 131st and 132nd Infantry regiments, and the 33rd tank com company now in training at Camp Grant, the 122nd and 124th field artillery regiments and the 106th cavalry at Camp Custer, Michigan are available in case they are needed. The troops at Custer will be called back within the borders of the state if the situation warrants, Colonel Taylor said tonight.

Orders From Sterling.

Orders for the mobilization came from Acting Governor Fred E. Sterling at Rockford and were transmitted thru Adjutant General Caros E. Black, to Colonel Taylor here at Springfield. Adjutant General Black tonight went to Bloomington, where threatened disorder was reported.

Of the 130th infantry only the medical deatchment, at Effingham, the service company at Sullivan, third battalion headquarters company at Carbondale and Company M, at Paris have not been called out. The 123rd field artillery, an incomplete regiment, with batteries at Monmouth and Galesburg, will not be ordered out for the present, Colonel Taylor said.

The troops were ordered to have in readiness their full field equipment and to take "plenty of revolver and rifle ammunition."

"We now have soldiers in readiness to reach almost any point in the state where trouble may occur within a very few hours," said Colonel Taylor. "We are determined to prevent a recurrence of anything like the Herrin massacre by niping incipient riots in the bud."

Colonel Taylor remained at his office thruout the night dispatching orders and awaiting reports from over the state.

IRREGULARS ARE STILL FLEEING FROM REGULARS

Main Body is Now on Run Thru Wicklow Hills

(By The Associated Press)

DUBLIN, July 8.— The force of irregulars mustered south of Dublin has fled before the advance of the national troops and the menace of fighting before the capital is further removed. The base of the irregulars at Blessington, from which they were despatching bands throughout the countryside, was captured by national forces early today, and the main body of the irregulars is on the run in the Wicklow Hills.

The insurgents withdrew from Blessington without resistence; the occupation of the village with no casualties on either side. They had been billeted in the town in considerable numbers. On Sunday last four or five hundred of them took possession with strong outposts, but it is evident that a stand there formed no part of their policy.

As the nationals advanced the garrison gradually melted away, leaving destruction and chaos behind. They had established their headquarters in the Ulster bank, the largest structure in the place. The destruction here was of a particularly unnecessary kind, perhaps because of its northern associations. Before they left they helped themselves to the money from the bank.

They had come from different parts of the country and included men who escaped from the fighting in Dublin. They were poorly armed with rifles, but had plenty of revolvers and bombs, which will be of little use in the long range methods of warfare they propose to adopt.

The irregulars have lost their best leaders, including Andy McDonnell and Jerry Boland. Jerry is the brother of Harry J. Boland, DeValera's former secretary. He arrived in a motor to inspect one of the outposts, but drove directly into the hands of the nationals who were in possession of it.

ODD FELLOWS MAKE INDIANA PILGRIMAGE

James H. Jumper, former Morgan county citizen and an enthusiastic Odd Fellow, was one of a party of Chicago Odd Fellows taking part in an important ceremonial at South Bend, Ind., Saturday night. Mr. Jumper sent the Journal the following telegram from South Bend:

"Seven hundred Chicago Oriental Odd Fellows came to this city tonight on two special trains. We brought our own band and are here organizing a sanctorium with 90 charter memers. The program was elaborate and the date will be ever memorable in I. O. O. F., history. Local men served a high class Indiana supper and a splendid vaudeville program had place in the entertainment features."

The cost of living is coming down. Effective tomorrow, users of gasoline are to be given the benefit of the reduction in freight rates. That reduction on a per gallon basis is figured at two-tenths of a cent

The supreme court seemingly does not look with favor upon the Illinois Zoning law. The court holds that the law as drawn interferes with certain basic rights of citizenship. No doubt the law can be amended in a way which will still leave it effective in meeting the needs of cities.

Again let us say that the opening of the Meredosia bridge to general traffic marks an epoch in the history of that town and for the county. The use of this railroad bridge for auto and team travel will be a matter of great convenience and the bridge will become a business contributor to Morgan conuty.

Jacksonville should do its full part in making the Wednesday celebration memorable.

People should not for a moment get the idea that they are uninterested on lookers in the railroad strike and the mine suspension. Strikes and suspensions lose money for both employers and employes, and eventually the public pays the bill.

Interest in the settlement of the coal strike takes secondary place. There could be no speedy improvement in coal supply conditions if the railroad strike spreads. The mining industry and railroad operations are very closely related.

Every company of militia in the state has been mobilized at its armory and so is in readiness to proceed on very short notice for any destination where strike trouble arises. Evidently the Herrin horror is having its effect in putting the state in readiness for meeting any situation where violence is in prospect with special promptness.

The very fact that 5,000 or 6,000 men are under arms will have a salutary effect in keeping down lawlessness.

THE JACKSONVILLE CHAUTAUQUA

The Fourth of July is over and gone. Community interest will now center in the Chautauqua which opens on Friday, August 11 and continues thru Sunday, August 20. Chautauquas play a large part in American life, especially in the rural sections. Few of us realize that at least one-tenth of our country's population attend these mid-summer assemblies or the great influence they have on the social and political life of the United States. In another column appears an article, "The Chautauqua Achievement" which tells some things of real interest to all of us Another article "The Tents of the Conservative" will appear later.

TODAY'S ECONOMIC SITUATION

(By Roger W. Babson)

"There is a way really to help business during this period of readjustment! The reason that the various campaigns to cheer up business have failed is because, in the early part of a period of depression, business needs something more than cheering up. These periods of hard times are not merely a state of mind. They are the result of excesses, the same as a spell of sickness. They can be cured only by first removing the causes. So-called "sunshine" and "boosting" campaigns are as futile as trying to cure a patient with stimulants when what he needs is a dose of physic.

"The present depression in business was not an accident. If you were watching fundamental conditions during 1919 or 1920, you knew full well that a depression would result. Moreover, you knew approximately how serious the depression would have to be.

"If some one starts borrowing money at the bank, neither we nor any one else can tell how much he will borrow. When, however, he has gone the limit, it is a simple matter of arithmetic to figure how much he will have to pay back. Just so with a country's business. In the period of expansion we were borrowing and the inflation of all business statistics shows approximately how much we borrowed. Now we are paying back and the extent of the depression shows that so far we have not quite paid back half of the total. The whole sum must be paid back before we can hope for a period of full prosperity.

"We can, however, reduce the waste of this readjustment period. We can have very much better times than we have now. We can do this if we increase the production of every person. I do not refer to mass production. It would help nothing to double your output by doubling your labor force. This simply runs up expense, pushes up prices and creates more goods than you can sell. If, however, you can double your own individual output and the output of each of your employees, the readjustment problem for your particular plant will be solved.

"Get this fact clearly in mind. There is no such thing as a general oversupply of goods. All of the present talk about overproduction is fallacy. Both here and abroad there are millions now in great need of goods. There never will be a general oversupply of goods until everyone has more than he can use profitably.

"What we do see is a larger supply of goods than the consumers can buy—first, because the price is too high, second, because the consumer himself has not produced enough to earn the right to buy your goods. The second cause you yourself can do very little to remedy, except as you can influence the people with whom you come in contact. The first cause, however,—namely the price of your goods—you alone can change. If you can produce and sell our product a little cheaper than others are doing, you have no trouble in finding a market. I can point to certain concerns today which are working at capacity to fill orders, while others in the same industry are sufering depression. Remember, high prices do not make prosperity; it is the amount of service rendered which makes prosperity.

The most hopeful sign today is that an increasing number of business men are beginning to realize the above fact! This is fundamental improvement. Already it is being reflected in increased confidence and a more stable tone in general business conditions.

The outlook for business in nearly every line is better. We are now laying the foundation upon which a great period of prosperity latter will be built.

WROTE ESSAY ON FARM CONCRETE USES

Kenneth L. Smith Entered Contest Fostered by Portland Cement Association — Made Excellent Grade.

Students of 47 states and Canada submitted 498 essays in a contest arranged by the Portland Cement association. Liberal prizes were offered for the best essays of not more than 600 words on the subject "The Farm Use of Concrete."

Kenneth L. Smith of this city was one of the contestants and while he did not win a prize, his essay received a grade only a few points lower than the winners. Essays were graded on the basis of 75 per cent for subject matter, 15 per cent for English and 10 per cent for neatness and arrangement.

The papers were graded by C. H. Lane, chief agricultural educational service, federal board for Vocational Education, Washington, D. C.; Thomas Cooper, Dean of Agriculture, University of Kentucky; Raymond Olney, secretary American Society of Agricultural Engineers; Dr. G. C. Creelman, formerly president of the Ontario Agricultural College and Professor L. J. Fletcher, head of the Agricultural Engineering Department, University of California.

The text of the essay Mr. Smith submitted in this contest is presented herewith:

Concrete on the Farm.

The use of concrete is becoming more important in construction work each year. Especially it is becoming important to the farmer.

For use in dairy barns where sanitation is the keynote, concrete is much used, but it can also be used successfully in almost any other farm building.

Concrete feeding floors are a great help to farmers in feeding, both in sanitation and in saving feed. A concrete feeding floor will save enough feed in a few years to pay for itself. A concrete floor can be kept clean so that the stock may have a clean place to eat, whereas if they are fed on the ground they are almost sure to pick up some dirt with the feed and in this dirt it is quite likely that there may be disease germs of some kind.

For use in corn cribs, concrete floors are taking the place of board floors. Concrete makes a solid, lasting, moisture proof, rat proof floor. This cannot be said of board floors.

The watering trough has as permanent a place on the farm as the barn itself. As to the kind of material to use in building a trough, that is for the farmer himself to decide. There are a few qualities which the material must possess. It must be sanitary and waterproof. Concrete possesses both of these qualities and one other that most materials do not possess. That is durability. A concrete trough or tank if properly built is smooth, sanitary, waterproof and permanent. A concrete trough will last for years but one made of other materials will soon rot away.

Of all the buildings on the farm the silo probably has to withstand more hardships than any of the others. Therefore it is necessary that it be built of good materials. Taking all these hardships into consideration it seems that concrete is the best material that can be used. A concrete silo that is properly made is airtight, which is one of the essentials of a silo. It is hard enough to withstand the gnawings and peckings of rats and woodpeckers, and is not affected by changing temperature. It is fireproof and is not affected by lightning and will even stand up in tornadoes and floods. If is is properly made it is waterproof therefore allowing no way for the sap or juice from the silage to escape.

A very convenient way of using concrete as a building material is in the form of blocks. Concrete blocks make an excellent material for the exterior walls of buildings. Concrete blocks are more expensive than lumber but they are much more durable and they are fireproof. They are cheaper than any other form of fireproof building material. Since concrete blocks are larger than bricks they may be laid in less time and with less mortar.

Of all the building materials used on the farm, concrete has more good qualities than any of the others. All that concrete needs is to be put in the right place and put there in the right way and it will give its best service.

Rawlins Concert Band Picnic and Fish Fry Largely Attended—Other Roodhouse News.

Roodhouse, July 8—The picnic and fish fry given by the Rawlins Concert band July 4 was a success in every respect. It is estimated that fully 5,000 persons were in attendance during the day. There were approximately 2,500 people in attendance at the ball game during the afternoon and it seemed that an equally large number remained downtown and in the park.

Prizes for the parade in the morning were given as follows: Best Business Float—Ray Devilbliss, $5; Best Decorated Bicycle (boy) Billy Johnessee, $2; Best Decorated Bicycle (girl), Geraldine Reeve, $2.

The band estimates its net profit for the day to be approximately $500. The big feature of the day was the afternoon ball game, when the Roodhouse team lost to Kessinger's team by a score of 3 to 1. The Roodhouse boys won the game Sunday with the same team by a score of 6 to 4.

Supt. Hutchens received announcement Thursday of the marriage of L. J. Hill, the high school science teacher and athletc coach, whose marriage occurred June 28. The name of the bride was not given but it is understood that she was a primary teacher in the St. Louis public schools. and EVA NOVAK, in

"Chasing the Moon"

A Whirlwind of Action and Fun

This is another Mix whirlwind photoplay, full of stunts and thrills and at the same time packed with fun.

With his usual zest and his exhibition of the joy of living, the Fox star travels half way around the world in this picture. He cuts his hand and is told that deadly poison has entered into the cut. A certain professor knows the only antidote. Mix must reach the professor in a month or die; and the professor is about to sail for Russia. He starts on horseback, changes to an auto, and keeps swapping cars and motorcycles until he reaches the steamship pier—only to find the steamer has sailed; so he swims to a motorboat, and pursues the steamer, only to find his man took an earlier vessel. The professor keeps a couple of jumps ahead of Tom until first Russia, then Spain, is reached.

All this time his best girl (Eva Novak) is chasing Tom to tell him that after all he was not poisoned, but if he takes the antidote he will die anyway. So it's a terrible mix-up. And what's worse, bandits get o nhis trail. The stunts he does so bewilder the bandits that their brains begin to work backwards. But it all ends well.

WASHINGTON LETTER HAS TIMELY TOPICS

received a score of protests against the nomination.

These letters, it is understood, came principally from editors and lawyers over the state who are friendly to Gov. Small. Wilkerson directed the prosecution in the recent trial of the Governor at Waukegan and the letters received here assert that he was unnecessarily bitter in assailing the defendant. Some of the letters also allege that Wilkerson is not the choice of the Chicago bar for the Landis vacancy, though it is stated by his friends here that he was selected by a committee of ten past presidents of the Chicago Bar Association.

As an alternate to Wilkerson, several of those who have elected to advise President Harding on the matter suggested the name of Judge Thomas Taylor, Jr., for many years a prominent lawyer of Chicago.

Illinoisans here are of the opinion that while the Wilkerson appointment may be deferred for a time, it will not be blocked by the letters of protest received from Governor Small's friends thruout the state. The argument was made in many of the letters that owing to the death of Mrs. Small, who listened to the prosecution of her husband during the trial, it would be "indecent haste" to send the nomination of Wilkerson to the senate at once. This objection will be met, it is expected here, by the holding up of the nomination for a short time.

Just before the President departed on his motor trip to Marion, Senators McCormick and McKinley went to the White House for a conference and the Wilkerson appointment was discussed. Both Illinois senators have strongly endorsed Wilkerson and will fight any attempt made by downstate Republicans to prevent his nomination.

In the meantime, it is likely that the President will send to the Senate for confirmation the names of Judge Adam Cliffe, Sycamore, and Judge Fenton W. Booth, Danville, for the appointment in the northern and eastern Districts respectively.

Down-state candy manufacturers lost out here this week in their fight to prevent the adoption by the Senate of increased tariff duties on almonds and walnuts.

Candy dealers in nearly every city of the state filed letters at Washington with their Senators and Representatives asserting that the increased duty would boost their costs and result in an advance in candy prices to the consumer.

Senator Hiram Johnson of California sponsored the amendments on behalf of California almond and walnut growers arguing that competition from abroad endangers the investment of $15,000,000 in the industry in his state. With the exception of Lenroot and La-Follette of Wisconsin all the Republican Senators lined up with Johnson for the amendments.

Plans of the Veterans' Bureau here to shift hospital centers in Illinois under a new hospitalization policy caused a storm of protest from Southern Illinois counties here late this week.

It was announced that disabled soldiers were to be removed from the Methodist hospital at Centralia to St. Mary's Hospital at East St. Louis. Prominent Centralia residents, led by Verne E. Joy, editor of the Centralia Sentinel, wired Senator McCormick on learning of the proposed change advancing arguments for the retention of the disabled men at Centralia. Similar positions have been received from other towns in the Centralia district, except in the six counties adjoining East St Louis.

The Veterans' Bureau is "standing pat" on its policy, and today issued a statement to the effect that the small number of men now under treatment at Centralia does not justify the continuance of the hospital there. Senator McCormick filed the protests with the Bureau and the transfer has been laid up, pending a final decision by Director Forbes.

Similar transfers at other points in the down-state Illinois are being contemplated, according to officials of the bureau.

How Illinois Members Voted in Congress During the Week.

On July 5, the Senate adopted amendments to the pending McCumber tariff bill increasing the duty on imported almonds and walnuts. The increased duty on walnuts was adopted by a vote of 38 to 21 and the increased duty on almonds by a vote of 39 to 17. Senators McCormick and McKinley voted for both amendments.

FARM NOTES

The hay crop in Morgan county is year is unusually heavy. On account of the pressure of other work, farmers are finding some difficulty in securing balers. The price for hay has been much below normal and that fact has resulted in most of the crop being placed in storage.

Wheat threshing is in progress in various parts of the county, and the yield reports are for the most part very satisfactory, running from 18 to 35 bushels to the acre.

Early last week elevators were offering $1.02 but the market speedily declined and not more than 97 or 98 cents could be offered by the elevator men Saturday.

The oats crop is almost a failure and most fields show stunted plants and a very light yield.

PARIS RESIDENTS HAVE TO MOVE OUT

Population Finds It Difficult to Get Place to Stay—Revives Talk of Enlarging the City.

Paris, July 8.—(By The Associated Press.) — Banks, movies and ministerial annexes have encroached upon the living quarters of Paris until the overflowing population has begun to crowd into the suburbs, raising the oft-mooted question of enlarging the city. Transportation facilities must be extended to accommodate the people thus elbowed out of town, and it is argued that for various reasons the city limits must be extended correspondingly.

Bolougne, which will be the first suburb to be connected with the center of the city by subway, is expected to be the first to be taken into the fold, altho Bolougne is showing no eagerness to become a part of the most expensive capital in the world.

The demolition of the Wall around the French capital, now well under way, to permit these extensions, is also working other important transformations. When finished, a 20 mile circular boulevard will mark a new stage in the evolution of Paris, as did the other boulevard systems, which illustrated the growth of the city in the same way as rings mark the age of an oak.

The first wide streets in the center of the city were built on the site of the wall of Philippe August I. The ring of Boulevards now called "grand boulevards" took the place of the wall of Louiv XIV, and the system of exterior boulevards," which are now far in the interior of the city liimts, starting the foot of Montmartne, superseded the wall of Louis XVI.

The old Latin quarter also gets another, and probably fatal, blow in these improvements. The University City to be built along the new boulevards, is expected to take students away from St. Michel and Montparnasse neighborhoods. American boys coming to Paris to study will find there up-to-date homes such as the Latin quarter never afforded. As for the old Latin quarter life, the little of it that still survived was buried the other day with "last of the Bohemians,"—Biart Degherardine.

P.)—An extension of the interests of Hugo Stinnes to include Mexico is seen in the recent visit her of Hugo Eversmann, vice president and share holder in numerous of the Stinnes concerns. While in Mexico City, Herr Eversmann conferred with numerous government officials and is also understood to have made several commercial agreements that will insure the immediate entry of the Stinnes enterprises into Mexico.

FIRST SHIPMENTS OF WOOL ARRIVE

CHICAGO—The first wool shipments to be received this season for the Farm Bureau wool pool arrived last week in local feight shipments, according to L. L. Corrie of the Wool Department of the Illinois Agricultural Association. A total of more than 5,500 pounds was received at the warehouse here the first week.

After grading and sorting, the wool will be held for sale at the most advantageous time. The prices which have been obtained for wool in this sort of co-operation averages from 10 to 12 cents better than when the wool is sold to local buyers, it was stated.

OFFICIALS SAY TRAIL WILL NOT BE CHANGED

Ocean to Ocean Trail Cannot Be Changed Now—No Truth to Report That It Will Be Routed Some Other Way.

For several days there have been rumors that the Ocean to Ocean Highway routed thru Riggston, Oxville and Valley City will be changed.

Officials of the highway have been much concerned in these reports as they are misleading. An official statement given out yesterday by the national officials was to the effect that an agreement had been entered into between the residents of the towns named for the highway to be routed thru these towns for a period of five years.

Under the agreemnt these residents have agreed to pay their share of the upkeep and the route canont be changed during that period.

But aside from this fact there are other reasons that are of more importance, the officials say. One is that the route thru Riggston is four miles shorter than any other. This was found by spedometer test on the car of one of the officials when the route was inspected.

Then also is another good reason. This is the fact that on the present route there is only one railroad crossing and this is all important where there is so much traffic, when the number of grade crossing accidents are taken into consideration.

Rev. and Mrs. I. H. Fuller of Woodson are enjoying a visit from Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ardinger and son of Mt. Olive, and brought them to the city yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Capps have gone to Matanza to spend the week end at their cottage. Dr. H. L. Griswold has also gone to Matanza to spend Sunday with his family.

QUINCY PREPARING FOR ITS CENTENNIAL

QUINCY—The first white settlers in what is now Quincy came to this section 100 years ago and plans for the observance of this centennial are being made. The ceremonies are to be held some time this fall probably in the building of the Quincy Historical building. The first settlers were John Wood and Willard Keyes. They bought a quarter section of land from one, Flynn veteran of the war of 1812 for $60. Flynn had received the land as a bonus for his service in the war, but never settled on it. Wood built a cabin on the land in the fall of 1822. The spot is now in the business quarter of Quincy.

GOLD ONLY MINERAL THAT ILLINOIS LACKS

From Time to Time Amateur-Prospectors Have Been Flurried by Finding Bits of Yellow Sustance—Hopes Have Already Been Shattered.

URBANA, Ill.—Rich in minerals and metals that have made modern industry possible, Illinois apparently is fated never to give to the world one of the most precious metals of all—gold.

From time to time land owners and amateur prospectors in various parts of the state have been flurried by finding bits of yellow substance that glittered like the precious stuff, only to have their dreams and hopes shattered.

The latest "discoverer" is Martin Rapp, who, while digging a pond on his land near Shiloh found a hard clay-like substance speckled with granules of a bright metal that had the appearance of gold. A vein of the clay was found about six feet beneath the surface. In the opinion of jejwelers at Shiloh it was gold, but in order to make sure, W. R. Dorris, a banker of O'Fallon sent a sample to the University of Illinois for a thorough examination.

But this find gives little promise of being of any value, according to F. W. DeWolf, chief of the State Geological Survey here.

"Like so many stories of this sort that originate from time to time thru the state this one carries with it no promise of commercial value," says Mr. DeWolf. "Not only has gold never been mined in this state, but it practically is certain that nowhere in the state will it ever be found in sufficient quantities to justify an attempt at production."

And what little might be found in Illinois has been donated by some other state or country in ages past.

"It is true," says Mr. DeWolf," that small nuggets of gold and boulders containing gold have been found occasionally but all of these roved to be merely 'float' brought by great continental ice sheet from Canada. Not only gold but copper and other minerals found in the Lake Superior region and the area to the north were brought to Illinois in this way. Certainly none of the geological formations in the vicinity of Pearl City gives any promise, whatsoever, that they might contain gold."

PRODUCE MARKET REVIEW

Movement of live poultry has been heavier than usual for this time of the year and as the demand for dressed poultry has fallen off to some extent, prices have worked to a lower level. It is the opinion of some of the trade that prices for poultry during the past few years has been higher relatively than for other kinds of meat, and for that reason, some are predicting lower values for all kinds of poultry for the entire season.

The quality of eggs being shipped at the present time is somewhat better than a week or two ago, on account of more favorable weather. The supply arriving at consuming markets is still greater than the demand, and surplus stocks are going to storage. Indications point to an extremely lareg surplus in storage July 1 over the same period last year, and the trade generally looks for reasonable values to continue thruout the remainder of the year.

Butter production is showing further decrease on account of pasturage conditions, but as there were heavy rains thruout a large portion of the producing territory last week, the decrease from now on should be more gradual. he demand continues good for butter for consuming purposes and for storage. The export demand which existed a few weeks ago has, for the present been taken care of.

The Dort

The Easiest Handled Car on the Market Today, Lowest Upkeep, Least Trouble

The India Temple of Shriners of Oklahoma City are proud of their band, patrol, chanters and all the other possessions of Shrinedom, but of these nothing is dearer to the hearts of the Nobles than the esteem in which they hold an intrepid girl driver who, though only 18 years old, piloted a Dort automobile party in the motor caravan more than 1800 miles over mountains and deserts in the pilgrimage to the Shrine Mecca in San Francisco.

The girl is Miss Helen Voss, who drove every mile of the distance, bringing her father and mother and young brother.

Miss Voss in her Dort was one of a caravan of 200 motorists that left Oklahoma City, May 21, shortly after her graduation from High School. Sturdy male drivers looked askance at the young woman and explained the hardships and difficulties they believed she would encounter, urging that she let the job of piloting the car fall to the lot of a man.

"I know the Dort and can handle it with such ease that the trip will be nothing at all," said the girl, and she demonstrated that she knew whereof she spoke, because aside from a little tire trouble early in the trip the party went through without an unhappy incident so far as the machine was concerned.

While crossing the New Mexican desert the entire party was held up by a band of cowboys, who turned out to be a welcoming party in disguise. This was one of the most thrilling experiences on the trip.

The heat is not spread and partially lost as with the ordinary Oil or Coal Stove. It all goes for cooking and baking. This means your cooking done quicker and less oil consumed. Sisler also is clinging to the lead in base stealing with twenty-seven, while Kenneth Williams, the 1922 home run marvel, is second with twenty-three. Williams smashed out his twentieth homer and is being trailed by Walker of Philadelphia, the runner-up, with seventeen. Ruth, Heilmann of Detroit, and Miller of Philadelphia each have connected with thirteen.

Lamar, fourth in the list a week ago, batted his way into second place by smashing out nine hits in his last seven games, giving him an average of .368. Myatt of Milwaukee, with an average of .390, continues to lead the race, however, with Brown of Indianapolis third with .364. The average includes games of Wednesday.

CHANGE DATE OF FAVORITE STAKE

CLEVELAND, O.,— Announcement is made of a change in the date of the Favorite stake, annual Grand Circuit racing event promoted by the merican Association of Trotting Horse Breeders, for three year old pacers of stake calibre, from July 6, during the first Grand Circuit meet at North Randall, to Saturday, August 5, two days before the second North Randall races. The change was made at the request of the owners as they believe racing a fast three year old so early in July is not good judgment.

SUZANNE LENGLEN WINS TENNIS TITLE FROM MRS. MALLORY

Takes the Title from Mrs. Molla Mallory in Straight Sets—Outclassed the American Champion—Mrs. Mallory Held the Advantage in Three Games of the First Set

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 8.—Suzanne Lenglen, the marvelous French girl, and holder of the world's tennis championship for women, playing like inspired, won a swift and certain victory over the American champion, Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, this afternoon. She disposed of her opponent in two sets, the score being 6-2, 6-0.

Vast crowds packed every niche of the great center court amphitheatre; the gates to the enclosure had long since been shut and barred. The king and queen of England were there, the Earl of Balfour, an ardent exponent of the game, former king Manuel of Portugal, many lords and ladies, and all the followers of tennis who could find their way to within sighting distance of the courts.

Notwithstanding other contests promising royal sport, the Lenglen-Mallory match was the great magnet that attracted and the struggle for which the thousands waited for hours in the rain.

Outbursts of applause gave evidence of the overwhelming partiality for the American woman finalist, but the French girl had many supporters, who grew in numbers as she showed her mastery of the sport. She carried herself with a poise and confidence which promised well for her game and ill for her opponent The nerves which had on previous occasions assailed her at critical times, were still retained, there was no evidence of them. She played not only with confidence, but with deliberation and thus was able to find the weak spots in Mrs. Mallory's armor and take full advantage of them.

American Outclassed.

Mlle. Lenglen was the winner from the start to finish. It is agreed that the American champion played excellent tennis and showed pluck and sportsmanship thruout, but so far as the contest today was concerned, it is further agreed by the critics that she was outclassed.

In three games of the first set the American player held the vantage point, but at these critical stages Suzanne surpassed herself.

With remarkable generalship Mlle Lenglen controlled the position of both players; she took no unnecessary risks, only thumping across hard shots when an ace point was required. After making a hole in her opponent's court the French girl repeatedly sent over a drive which could not be reached. Sometimes Mrs. Mallory was brought to the net by a ball dropped over so close that she was unable to get back; then her opponent put across a clear winning pass.

At times Mrs. Mallory, too, made wonderful placements, occasicnally putting the ball beyond reach, but she could not keep the pace long enough." She hit bravely thruout, but strategy told.

Those who expected some show of nerves on Suzanne's part in view of her American experiences were disappointed.

The second game of the second set was the finest exhibition of all. The two played on even terms, reaching deuce. Then Suzanne came to the net. Mrs. Mallory drove a gain to the same spot, and then a third time. The French girl amid the first rousing cheer she had received, aced her third volley to within inches of the base line. Later she got a great ovation when she killed off Mrs. Mallory's smash at the net.

The victory of Gerald L. Patterson, the Australian star, over J. O. Anderson, was a praiseworthy comeback in the face of an almost wholly Anderson Anderson gallery and after Patterson had lost two sets in the first three. The scores were 6-1, 3-6, 7-9, 6-1, 6-3.

INDEES WILL MEET GIRARD TEAM TODAY

Strong Macoupin County Aggregation Plays Here—Padgett Will Be on Rubber for Girard.

Frank Smith's Indees will meet the fast Girard team at South Side Park this afternoon in what promises to be one of the best games of the season.

The visitors will have "Sog" Padgett on the mound. Padgett is well known to local fans as he worked for the Indees for several seasons. He is a pitcher of class and when he is right he is a hard man to beat.

The last time Padgett appeared locally he hurled against the Indees who beat him by a small score. "Sog" would rather chalk up a victory over his old team mates than eat a good meal and will do his best to win.

On the other hand the locals would rather beat Padgett than almost any other pitcher they know so there should be lots of action in today's contest.

Smith will present either Vaught or Seymour on the mound this afternoon. Either of them is ready and if they get the support and a few runs should turn in a victory.

The Indees will have a new face in the lineup today in the person of Kolhoff, who will be seen at second base. The game will be called at 3 o'clock with Donahue holding the indicator.

The lineup:

Indees—Kolhoff, 2b; Wheeler, 1b; Hamm, cf; Christopher, ss; DeFrates, 3b; Rush, lf; Dickason, rf; Clark, c; Vaught, Seymour p.

Girard—Sutton, lf; Thompson, ss; Smithson, cf; Talkington, 3b; Fletcher, 1b; England, lf; Clardy, c; Driver, 2b; Padgett, p; Hopson, Sheridan, Harlan, utility.

SINGLE G. STARTS SEASON WITH WIN

Veteran Pacer Takes Free For All at North Randall In Straight Heats—Other Results.

North Randall, Cleveland, Ohio, July 8.—Single G demonstrated again today that he is the best pacer in the Grand Circuit. The aged son of Anderson Wilkes, driven and trained by Ed Allen of Indianapolis defeated the best bunch of pacers in training for the free-for-all purse, feature of today's getaway card at North Randal. He won the event in straight heats and set a new season's pacing record for one and two miles by negotiating the distance in 2:03¾ and 2:02¾ respectively. Never was the result in doubt.

So well were Single G's chances thought of that he was barred in the auction betting. In the mutuels he was a prohibtive favorite. After Single G had been ruled out, Juno proved a surprise by beating Hal Mahone and Jimmy McKerron in the third heat.

Pop Geers, veteran driver of the grand circuit, had a narrow escape from injury in the 2:15 trot.. As the horses were scoring for the second heat Queen Alix backed into Geer's sulky overturning it. The veteran luckily escaped with a slight shaking up. His entry, Anna Phelps, which finished second in the first heat ran away two miles and a half after the accident and was withdrawn.

IOWA STATE TITLE GOES TO KNEPPER

Defeated Bartlett Who Had Won Title Four Times.

Des Moines, Ia., July 8.—In winning today's match and title, Knepper accomplished a new feat in Iowa golf history, altho Bartlett had won the championship four times but not in consecutive years.

Knepper was never down during the entire match, altho Bartlett squared the contest at the ninth green of the morning round after having been three down at the fifth tee. Knepper won the tenth hole and was not neaced after that. He increased his lead on the inside of the morning's play by winning the 120th, 150th and 17th holes and was four up at noon.

Knepper increased his advantage to five up early in the afternoon but Bartlett won the fifth and ninth holes and was only three down at the turn. The Sioux City Star won the tenth and twelfth and won the match and title by taking the thirteenth. He out drove Bartlett consistenly thruout the day by from 10 to 35 yards. His long iron shots and approachers were as deadly as they had been all week and nearly always he ws inside of Bartlett on the greens.

There were several sensational plays. In the morning round Knepper holed out an approach at the 240 yard fifteenth hole for a birdie two. His drive left him five yards at the left of the greens but he chipped up and the ball rolled in the cup.

ALL READY FOR OMAHA GOLF TOURNEY

OMHA, Nebr.—The best amateur golfers of the west are here for the start Monday of the 1922 Trans - Mississippi tournament which will be played during the coming week over the course of the Omaha Country Club.

ENGLAND ALSO HAS HER TROUBLES WITH RUSSIAN DIPLOMATS

Many Had Occupied Gresham House in the Days of Imperial Russia—Now is the Home of Monsieur E. Sabline, Who is Liquidating Matters of Late Russ Government

LONDON.—Just back of the residence of the American ambassador in Chesham Place, Belgravia, stands a rather dilapidated four-storied mansion whose doors once opened only to royalty; the topmost strata of English aristocracy, and the elect of court and diplomatic circles. It was then the abode of the Imperial Russian ambassador.

Today, according to a footnote on foreign office diplomatic lists, it is merely "Chesham House" and designated as the address of Monsieur E. Sabline, "charged with the liquidation of matters connected with the late Russian government." The brilliant companies it knew in former days have given place to gatherings of miscellaneous folk who spend an occasional evening there dancing, and paying admission fees which go to Russian refugee funds.

In Bond Street, London's famous shopping center, and in Moorgate Street, within a stone's throw of the Bank of England, are located the palatial offices of the consular and trade delegations of the Russian Socialist Federal Soviet Republic. In Park Lane is the magnificient residence of Leonid Krassin who, as the representative of the Lenin-Trotzky government, negotiated the Anglo-Russian trade agreement which presaged establishment of these Soviet agencies in London.

In an obscure corner of London may be found the modest, even humble, dwelling of Constanin Nabokoff, the last representative in London of Czar Nicholas II. Nabokoff was counsellor of the embassy when his chief, Countbenckendorff, the Russian ambassador, died in January, 1917. Nabokoff, thereupon became charge d- affaires and in that exalted position was the master of Chesham House until September 9, 1919, when he yielded to E. Sabline, appointed by Sazonoff, foreign minister of the Kolchak government.

Nabokoff was a member of the Russian delegation that concluded the treaty of Portsmouth at the close of the Russo-Japanese war. Today, Nabokoff, once the dispenser of an autocratic monarch's hospitality, slaves to keep alive the anti-Bolshevik cause, with ready smile and cheerful optimism he talks confidently of the day, "not far in the future," when, he declares, Russia's Bolshevik rulers will be dethroned and successors, "chosen by the people," will bring his land once more within the sphere of international affairs.

After the collapes of the Kerencky provisional government and the accession of the Lenine-Trotzky regime, all Russian government funds deposited in London banks were confiscated by the British government, but the embassy itself was technically private property and could not be seized. The British Foreign Office notified Petrograd authorities that the appointment of a new Russian Ambassador to London was expected. Sazonoff, formerly a subordinate of Count Benckendorff, was appointed, his designation was welcome by the British, but Sazonoff did not appear. Baron Meyendorff was the second appointee for the post. This choice was made early in June, 1917. But he did not come to London.

U. S. CONDUCTING INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL

Preparing World War Veterans to Fill Positions as Skilled Workers.

Do you want trained personnel?

The U. S. Veterans' Bureau has 130,738 ex-service men in training status who are receiving instruction in every trade, industry, profession, and in agriculture. They are completing their courses at the rate of 500 a month. Every person completing a course of instruction is a skilled workman. If you want personnel trained in a particular vocation write to: Rehabilitation Division, Employment Section, U. S. Veterans' Bureau, Washington, D. C. or Rehabilitation Division, Employment Sec., Dist. 8, U. S. V. B., 111 N. Canal Street, Chicago, Ill.

The United States government is conducting the largest trade and industrial school in the world It has more than 130,738 students enrolled. This "school" is the rehabilitation division of the United States Veterans' Bureau thru which the Government is training these 130,738 veterans in a trade, industry, profession, business or in agriculture.

The instruction in these vocations is furnished in leading colleges, technical schools, commercial schools as well as in business establishments, shops and on farms. These men are in training in every state in the union and in every large city in the country. In all the large industrial centers these men who have received this intensive training from the Government are available for positions. Every vocation is represented and any employes who needs additional personnel will be furnished such personnel from his vicinity in short time by notifying the Veterans' Bureau. Not only is this personnel trained in the best schools available but they have also received practical instruction on the job in industrial establishments and in shops.

These men are not permitted to terminate their training until the Bureau is assured that they are skilled workmen and capable of carrying on in the vocation for which they are trained, and need the requirements of the commercial world. The courses of instruction vary in length from one year to four years while the average length of a course is two years.

The public has the impression that the majority of men who are receiving vocational training suffer from amputations. This impression is erroneous as statistics compiled by the Veterans' Bureau show that less than two per cent of the men in training suffer from amputations. The other 98 per cent have disabilities such as, shrapnel and gun-shot wounds and other disabilities with which the civilian population is subject to such as, heart trouble, bronchial diseases and minor disabilities. These men, however, are not permitted to select courses of training in which their disabilities will be a handicap or interfere in any way. Those persons who have tuberculosis are not permitted to take up vocational training until the tuberculosis is arrested or inactive. The disabilities of the majority of the vocational students are not noticeable and in no way prevent them from successfully carrying on and competing with the civilian workers on an equal basis.

Employers who wish to employ these ex-service men who have been trained and whose ability to successfully carry on in a vocation has been assured by the training given should correspond with the above address, state the type of personnel required, when the position is available and the place of employment.

BABSON ON 1922 CROP OUTLOOK

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass., July 8—In discussing the general situation for the week Roger W. Babson the statistician today made the following analysis of the Crop Outlook:

"Today interest is centered around the prospective 1922 crop output. I cannot over-estimate the importance of agricultural products at this time, not only as a business barometer, but as the means of restoring confidence and a higher spending power in those sections that suffered most acutely during this depression period. I have traveled thru the grain and cotton areas and know the farmer carried more than his share of the readjustment responsibilities. Yes this is history, and the farmer is looking forward with considerable optimism to probable developments during the next few years.

"The outstanding feature of the June Government Report is that acreage of all wheat, oats and rye is 2.2 per cent less than a year ago, but the estimated yield is 17.1 per cent greater. This means that growing conditions are comparatively favorable. I have yet to witness a year where crop scares and marked price fluctuations did oat materialize. Weather and insect ravages cannot be forecast, but as conditions now stand, the total grain output should about equal normal proportions. The winter wheat crop is now being harvested, the yield estimated at 3.4 per cent over 1921.

"Spring wheat figures are placed at 18.8 per cent more than a year ago, with the total considerably in excess of the ten-year average. Nevertheless, wheat is statistically strong. Our exportable surplus for the current year was placed at 255,000,000 bushels. Actual exports for the season approached 265,000,000 bushels. The relatively large crop is entirely offset by the limited carry-over. Australian and Argentina stocks are also limited. True, the price level of wheat is high compared with corn and oats. Wheat, however, is the natural leader and I would make one point clear; namely, that until Russia is again in a position to feed a great portion of Europe, the price of wheat in this country will remain high.

"The number of acres devoted to oats is 6.7 per cent under a year ago. Still the prospective output is 23 per cent more. The estimated yield of 1,305,000 busnels about equals the ten-year average. It is well known that oat prices are fundamentally too low. Considering the limited crop of a year ago and heavy consumption on the farms, the carry-over promises to rule far under normal proportions. This phase is no. discounted by the present price level. I anticipate a higher average price level for oats during the 1922-23 season. The rye crop shows the most radical development of all. Acreage is 13.3 per cent over last year, while the prospective yield shows an increase of 40 per cent. With the exception of 1918, this is the largest increase of 40 per cent. with the exception of 1918, this is the largest figure on record. There is no fundamental reason why rye should not follow the general trend of agricultural products.

"With the advent of the new crop a marked price elevation is not logical. Still no serious price decline should eventuate this fall, and the 1922-23 seasonal rise should be more pronounced than in the season about to close. The Babson Agricultural Index of ten leading products is now quoted at 148, which shows a 28-point rise over the low during the fall of 1921. The elevation in agricultural products has already increased the spending power of the farmer. It should be remembered that 1922 producing costs—labor, fertilizer and transportation—are ranging on a more popular basis compared with recent years. Therefore, with good crops and a higher average price over the next year, the farmer's income is bound to return gradually to normal.

"I am particularly interested in cotton. The condition is now estimated around 70, which compares with a ten-year average of 75. Last year's crop was the smallest in modern history, yet the record carry-over constituted a total figure that successfully coped with the curtailed European and domestic demand. This year the carry-over is nearly back to normal proportions and a crop in excess of 11,500,000 bales is not indicated. This means that the total supply is about equal last year's figure, but the potential demand is greater.

"Europe has been taking between 5,000,000 and 6,000,000 bales annually since 1913," concluded Mr. Babson. 'The pre war figure was between 8,000,000 and 9,000,000 bales. Europe must buy raw cotton in greater quantity if she is to maintain supremacy in the finished product. With the settlement of the present textile strike, domestic consumption will be higher, not lower. Theoretically there is a world shortage of cotton and until the statistical position is corrected, a condition that cannot materialize for at least another year the average price will remain as high if not higher than the present level."

General business acording to the index figure of the Babson-Chart stands at 17 per cent below normal. This is the same as last week, and is favorable considering the serious loss suffered thru the variou great labor strikes now in progress.

PASTORAL HELPERS OF CHAPIN MEET

Ladies of Chapin Christian Church Make Plans for Bazar at This Week's Meeting— Other News From Chapin and Vicinity.

Chapin, July 8.—A very pleasant, as well as profitable day was spent in the basement of the Christian church, Thursday, when the members of the Pastoral Helpers met to begin their work for the annual bazaar next December. At the noon hour a splendid basket dinner was served; all kinds of salads, sandwiches, fried chicken, pies, cakes and coffee made up the menu.

At 2:30 the president, Mrs. Frank Blair had charge of the program. Mrs. Stewart read the scripture lesson, followed by a prayer by Mrs. B. J. Taylor. America was sung, after which roll call was responded to by giving the names of signers of the Declaration of Independence. This meeting was the beginning of the new year and the treasurer's report found a most satisfy ing work done financially. It is a new society in the church and promises to be one of the strongest.

Rev. F. W. Burnham of St. Louis, President of the American Missionary Society, and one of Chapin's own home boys will fill the pulpit at the First Christian church in Jacksonville Sunday, both morning and evening. It is expected that several from here will attend one of these services.

Rev F. M. Crabtree and family, Benj. J. Taylor and family, Mrs. W. W. Anderson, and Mrs. Ellen Rice motored to the Fish Hatchery the 4th where they spent an enjoyable time. A picnic lunch was served early in the evening.

Mrs. Ellen O. Conetas entertained the members of the Chapin Household Science Club Friday afternoon at her home here. Owing to the busy harvest season, several of the club ladies were unable to attend. The meeting was opened by singing America after which each one responded to roll call by giving the name of a revolutionary hero. Miss Helene Markham read a paper on the life of Thomas Jefferson. The program was in keeping with the spirit of 1776.

Miss Catherine Morris of near Merritt rendered two very pretty violin numbers, Miss Helen Markham accompanying. Mrs. B. A. Cratz, always, in her willing manner read "Laska" for the guests and was called upon for an encore. During a pleasant social hour the hostesses served ice cream, cake, coffee, tea and mints.

WHITE HALL AUTO WAS SECOND IN AUTO RACE

Elon Robley and Truman Boyd Won Second Place in Streator Auto Race July 4—Other White Hall News.

White Hall, July 8.—Flushed with victory in winning second place at the Streator fair automobile race on the Fourth, Elon Robley and Truman Boyd are back in White Hall with the R. N. Special, intent upon other conquests following the first race in which their racing car was such a successful competitor. Robley drove the five-mile course in 6 minutes 12 and 4-5 seconds, defeating the Dusenberg, Dodge Special 16 valve, Ford Special 16-valve and Chevrolet 8-valve. Robley came in the finish fully half a lap in the lead, merely coasting in under the wire from the last cure. When he was a quarter of a mile in the lead in a five mile sprint, Robley lacked only three-fifths of a second of equalling the Illinois state record on half mile tracks. He says he did not have to burn his car to outclass the company at Streator. The time on the straightaway was run at a speed of about 70 miles per hour.

Robley also took the three-mile pursuit race, defeating a Dusenberg and a fast 16-valve Ford built in Kansas City by the Babe auto school. He made the half mile speed trial in 37 4-5 seconds. He had a mechanician from Milwaukee, Joe Steinel, who aided Robley's speed record by efficient service in maintaining the pressure in the air and oil lines. Joe had a fast Dodge, but was put out of the race at the outset by colliding with a Chevrolet.

Robley's next race will be on a mile track at Peoria July 30th.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy S. Kellogg and son arrived from New York City, Friday by auto, coming from Chicago on the final day of the journey and will spend about a month with Mrs. Kellogg's mother Mrs. Posie B. Fry. Mr. Kellogg is a distinguished conservationist, being associated with Gifford Pinchot in the notable conversation movement under Roosevelt, and for the past few years has been secretary of the association of manufacturers of news print paper. It is regrettable that his stay will not carry him over to the chautauqua in order that the printing interests of this section might hear an address by him, and it is doubtful if he would consent to an engagement that will interfere with his vacation during the next three weeks.

The 4-19 class of the First Baptist Sunday school held a business session in connectionu with the monthly social, being entertained at the home of Mrs. Elmer Dean on Ross street. The following officers were elected: President, Miss Bird Duncan; vice president, Miss Sadie Wendell; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Elmoer Dean; assistant, Miss Mattie Walton; teacher, Mrs. A. M. Nevius; assistant, Miss Mabel Green; reporter, Mrs. Laura Pritchett. There were 21 present and refreshments were served. The next meeting will be with Mrs. W. P. Neutz man.

TWENTY FIVE SCOUTS START OUTING TOMRROW

The boys will meet at Grace church Monday morning at 7:30 and will be taken to the river in cars furnished by members of the church. The week will be spent in the usual good time including several battle royals on the water. Several other stunts are planned for the boys amusement, which will greatly add to the pleasure of the regular outing program.

The boys that are expected to go are—Donald Casey, Kenneth Thompson, Charles Williamson, Lewis Simms, Tracy Cowgur, Byron Canatsey, John Gray, Herbert Hickox, Edward Cook, Geo. Goheen, Elbert Brown, Carlyle Scott, Abe Weihl, Martin Gehring, Bernard Gause, Dale Sturgis, Murval Smith, Charles Henry, Clarence Peterson, Glenn Dodsworth, Claire Huff, Walter Rice, Corbin Trabue, Bringle Smith, L. L. Horen.

Mrs. Henry Petefish of Literberry was a city caller yesterday.

URGES PRESERVATION OF THINGS FAMILIAR IN ILLINOIS HISTORY

Mrs. Jesse Palmer Weber, Secretary of the Illinois State Historical Society, Would Save the Furnishings of Pioneer Cabin And Other Relics of the Early Days

SPRINGFIELD, July 8.—The passing years will sweep away with them the symbols of an ever changing civilization and a generation will come that knows not the familiar land marks of this generation's onward push unless some authoritative body takes the trouble to gather up and "embalm" our fleeting history, suggests the secretary of the Illinois State Historical Society, Mrs. Jesse Palmer Weber, in a recent report.

There is, for instance, the cross roads store. It is passing, Mrs. Weber believes, for the automobile, the parcel post, the rural free delivery and the electric interurban are doing to it what the steam railroads and the telephones started some decades ago. Who will know a hundred years from now what the cross roads store looked like?

Who today knows what the trapper's cabin of pioneer days in Illinois looked like? Will future generations wonder what the horse and buggy looked like?

Mrs. Weber believes these things, some of them familiar still to this generation, will be curiosities to the people of a distant age, and as the new Centennial building, in which the historical society will be located with its museum, nears completion she is planning some of the objects that will be placed in the historical collection.

She suggests a completely equipped trapper's cabin with its primitive furniture and domestic utensils, its shooting irons and agricultural implements, the little cradles and trundle beds used when the pioneer family became more prosperous, the home spun and home made clothing for men, women and children, the various kinds of churns used in the pioneeer days, the well-sweep, the grind stone and the primitive farm implements. She would have such a cabin furnished just as it was a century ago in Illinois.

Then the country general store she would have its postoffice, drug department, its saw dust box and old coal stove, perhaps.

Having in mind this museum of Illinois history, a member of the Historical Society already has ofered to donate a victoria which she used but little, an automobile having taken its place. In this connection Mrs. Weber calls attention to a city ordinance of Denver, Colo., which, she says, provides that after a certain time live stock shall be permitted on certain streets of that city, mentioning the horse as one of the prohibited animals.

Mrs. Weber in her report makes a plea for material on the history of Illinois, either past or current.

'Everything that by the most liberal construction can illustrate the history of Illinois, its early settlement, its progress or present condition," she says it earnestly desired by the society, especially anything relating to the part taken by the state of Illinois in the World War.

City ordinances, maps, of cities proceedings of city councils, reports of committees, annual reports of societies, sermons or addresses delivered in the state, minutes of church conventions, political addresses, railroad reports, naratives of pioneers of Illinois and in fact, as she says, anything at all bearing on Illinois is wanted by the society.

At first thought such a collection may seem to the average person to have little practical value, but Mrs. Weber points out "one has only to spend a little time in an historical library to learn of the manifold uses the practical people of today have found in the records of the past."

The third ambassador-designate, Prince Gregoire Troubetzkoi, declared at the 11th hour that he would prefer to go to Rome. Nalokoff sought the approval of the British officials that de Giers, then Russian Ambassador at Rome, should come to London instead. Lord Hastings, under secretary, exploded: "Three times has the consent of His Majesty been given to the appointment of an ambassador. None of these gentlemen ever appeared in London and the Provisional Government never took the trouble to explain the reason of this extraordinary procedure, much less to apologize for it. This cannot continue indefinitely." Explanation of Prince Troubetzkoi's failure to arrive was demanded. Explanation was deferred pending the arrival in London of Tereschenko, at that time Russia's foreign minister. Tereschenko did not come to London, and a fortnight later the Provisional government was overthrown by the Bolsheviki.

Litvinoff's appointment as Bolshevik "ambassador" soon followed. All Russian government funds including those at the disposal of Nabokoff for embassy expenses, were seized by the British government. An official intimation was given Nabokoff, however that Britain would grant "assistance," and henceforth expenses were defrayed from grants by the British exchequer totaling about £190,000 until March 31, 1919, when credits were opened by the Kolchak government at Omsk.

Nabokoff, occupant of an embassy that bore the name of a non-existent government, subjected to many limitations, denied the privilege of cipher communication and no longer accorded the diplomatic entree, continued to comunicate by letters marked "private" with the British Foreign Office.

Litvinoff the Bolshevik envoy was never officially recognized, but was in constant intercourse with the British government and enjoyed certain privileges, such as a cipher and diplomatic courier service, which were refused Nabokoff.

Invite Litvinoff to Leave.

Then Kameneff, appointed Bolshevik ambassador to Paris, arrived in London. Premier Clemenceau refused him admission to France. He was repatriated. In 1918, Litvinoff was invited by the British government to return home via Scandinavia, and thus ended the anomolous existence in London of two Russian agencies, each claiming recognition neither receiving it, yet both in close touch with the British government.

In August, 1919, Arthur Balfour, British representative at the Peace conference, and Saronoff, who had become Foreign Minister of the Omsk government arranged in Paris that E. Sabline should assume charge in London of the liquidation of the affairs of the "late Russian governments." He took charge in September of that year.

From what source comes the funds which Chesham House is maintained is a mystery, for the last known source, the Omsk government, long ago ceased to be anything more than a name. Inquirers hear tales of large amounts of money accumulated in London and Paris by the Kerensky and other Russian administrations, remaining to the credit of individuals who played leading roles in those short-lived attempts to establish sovereignty.

Scotland Yard customarily assigns a policeman to special duty in front of foreign embassies and legations in London. A white-gloved constable patrols night and day before Chesham House. But it is not because Chesham House is recognized even by Metropolitan Police officials as an embassy. It is because, in 1918, Bolshevik agents threatened to seize the place by force and the constable was placed on duty as a precaution against unseemly disturbance in aristocratic Belgravia.

Officials of the Bilshevik trade delegation may be seen any day motoring from their Bond and Moorgate Street offices to their Mayfair residences in luxurious limousines. The last official representative in London of Czar Nicholas II rides from the unassuming Fleet Street offices of "The Russian Liberation Committee" to his even less pretentious home in a remote corner of London by omnibus.

Photographs made at our studio are more than the ordinary run of pictures—they are intimate, personal portraits.

Golden Text: The stone that smote the image became a great mountain and filled the whole earth. Daniel II 35.

Daniel Interpreting Nebuchadnezzar's Dream

In his palace, aptly called "the admiration of mankind," the king sat, wearing a pensive expression, which neither the banquet-room nor the harem could dispel. It was not a mere matter of curiosity, the recovery of the forgotten dream. In that mystic vision his personal destiny, and that of his reign just beginning, and of his nation, all were wrapped. . God as certainly willed the forgetting of the dream as its original dreaming. It made an expose of necromacy possible. Anybody could interpret a dream. The time of alleged fulfillment might be put far and conveniently in the future. On a double entente might be given like the response of the oracles. But to tell a dream forgotten—that was a test confessedly severe, yet just, if astrology was supernatural. The power that could disclose the dream might be trusted to interpret it. The failure of the Chaldean magicians was as egregious as that of the Egyptian eight hundred years before, and of spiritualism twenty-four centuries later. . All was terror in the palace, the king enraged, and the soothsayers parleying in vain. Daniel calmly stepped into the troubled company.

His character temperate, pious, studious, fitted him for an emergency. He was like a "sheathed saber, ready to flash out at God's command." . . . . His motives were complex. Self-preservation was not the least. The king's alternative would have made a clean sweep of the magi, and Daniel was one of them. He was not blase. His life was dear and worth living. He was philanthropic, too. He would fain save the lives of others. He was patriotic. His interpretation of the dream would conserve the interests of his fellow-countrymen in exile. He was pious. Could he perform a task by divine power, in which heathen divination had made a conspicuous failure, God would be honored. . . . The most notable young men's prayer-meeting of history was held on this occasion with great results; for prayer prevailed. . This story of the king's dream and the prophet's interpretation gives a skillful panorammic description of the rise, relative proportions and strength and the final decline of several ancient monarchies.

It does not diminish the worth of the book that it was written after some of the events and not before them. For the purpose was not prophecy. Neither does it discount it because the chronology is not accurate. For it was not written as history. . In short the Book of aniel was a political and patriotic tract written for the evil days of Antiochus Epipphanes when the deliberate effort was made to crush forever the Hebrew racial spirit and faith and substitute the Greek language and religion. To offset this some skillful writer of that period gathered up the stories of the greatest hero of the Exile. It is the glorification of patriotism and piety as incarnated in Daniel. This vivid and forceful book accomplished its purpose. It fired the Hebrew heart for the splendid deeds of the Maccabean rebellion. The book was purposely and skillfully written in a form which adopted it for public reading which served as the printing-press of that day. The form of mystic allusion and symbol was intentionally adopted to throw the persecutors off the track.

TWO AGED WHITE HALL RESIDENTS HONORED

Twin Sisters Observed 83d Birthday Anniversary—Interesting Figures From Assessors Books —White Hall Council News Notes.

WHITE HALL, July 7—A birthday celebration in honor of twin sisters was held Thursday at the home of Mrs. W. P. Lowenstein on North Main street, the principals being Mrs. Mary Halbert, mother of Mrs. Lowenstein, and Mrs. Frances ePterson. The ladies attained their 83rd birthday anniversary on that day, and in honor of the event callers frequented the home thruout the day with felicitations and congratulations. There was also a dinner party that rounded out a memorable day in the lives of these splendid women, and they had as an all-day guest Mrs. Elizabeth Duncan, who celebrated her 85th anniversary just a month before.

The maiden name of the twins was Jennings, and they are natives of the vicinity of Greenfield. Mrs. Halbert has resided in White Hall and vicinity practically all her life. Her husband died in February, 1914, and she makes her home with her daughter, Mrs Lowenstein, where also resides her son Ernest. Another son, W. L. Halbert, resides in Springfield Mrs. Peterson has claimed Cleveland as her home since the death of her husband some twenty years ago, but she spends the greater part of her time in White Hall. Her daughter and only child, Mrs. Charles Graham, resides in Cleveland

Assessment Figures

J. W. Trunnels, assessor of White Hall township, has returned his books to the county treasured with assessed valuation as follows: Real estate, $2,330,000; town lots $99,800; personal $1,556,980, falling down on the latter to a considerable extent from under last year. In the matter of grain the valuation last year was $30,000, and this year he shows only $14,000, while live stock decreased largely, and the valuation of automobiles fell to the extent of about $20,000. His agricultural report shows 1,703 acres of clover, 550 acres of clover and timothy hay mixed, 285 acres of timothy, 6,350 acres of corn, 3,450 acres of wheat, and only 450 acres of oats, the smallest oats average on record. There are 817 brood sows in the township, 2,300 other hogs, 800 dairy cows, 2,150 head of other cattle, 10,035 apple trees, 400 peach trees, 856 horses, 290 mules, and only 19 colts foaled this year. He collected on 336 dogs, the largest number in any five townships in the county, except Kane, as Roodhouse and Carrollton have not reported. There are 12,360 laying hens.

Miss Ethel Dyer, secretary to Congressman Kunz, is home from Washington, D. C. for a vacation visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Dyer.

City Council Notes

The regular July session of the city council brought out the entire membership of that body, but the big business in prospect, that of calling an election on the municipal electric proposition, went over until Friday night. City Marshal Tatman reported two arrests for disorderly conduct and two dogs killed during the past month, while Officer Clouder reported not an arrest.

The report of the treasurer showed $6,444 on hand. The assessed property valuation of the city is $1,300,000, indicating resources from taxation during the ensuing year of about $21,000, which is better than expected. This increased figure in indicative of an enlarged property valuation.

The Richardson Oil Co. was granted a permit to erect an oil station near the milk condensing plant, provided work is started within 90 days and the plant completed within 180 days. A. E. Hudson was granted a permit of the same nature to erect an oil plant on the property of the Western Stoneware Co.

A vault cleaner proposed to remove 600 barrels of solid matter from the septic tank of the city sewer system at the rate of 75c per barrel. It was reported that the septic tank is within almost a foot of being full, and is rendering an extremely offensive odor in the vicinity. W. S. Corsa stated that the odor is so offensive that he is unable to use his adjoining pasture for live stock. Mayor Roodhouse stated that early next spring a water main would be extended to the vicinity of the septic tank, and that the tank would be thoroly flushed at a time that would render the operation less offensive to the farmers. Mr. Corsa did not commit himself as to whether he would object to the flushing proposal of the mayor.

George Clark, sentenced by Justice Wendell to pay a fine and costs of $13.50 for disorderly conduct and sentenced to the county jail in default, will be permitted to languish in the county bastile until his account is satisfied at the rate of 50c per day. The matter of compensating the county for such service will follow the precedence established by the city of Carrollton, whose prisoners are cared for free of charge.

The township will be permitted to use all surplus road oil at the rate paid by the city. This action was taken in order to encourage the fuller road oiling operations along the highways leading into the city.

The city attorney was instructed to immediately proceed against drivers of automobiles who have knocked down ornamental lamp posts in the business section.

INTEREST SHOWN IN I. C. FUNDS

Incidents Narrated in Connection With Closing of Endowment Campaign—College News Notes.

During the weeks since the Illinois College commencement, a great many of the subscriptions to the New Endowment Fund, which was completed on commencement day have been paid. The trustees will greatly appreciate the favor if all installments on subscriptions are promptly paid when due. According to the terms of the subscription from the Rockefeller board, that board agrees to pay its subscription to the college in proportion as the other subscriptions are paid. It is, therefore, obvious why a prompt payment of subscriptions will be of great advantage to the College.

Many indications connected with the closing week of the Illinois College campaign for endowment were of great encouragement to the authorities of the college. The action of an alumnus of the class of '93 in cabling his subscription from Venice, Italy, in order to make sure that it would get here on time is but one example of the interest and loyalty of the alumni of the college. At the commencement exercises President Rammelkamp read a card from an anonymous friend, explaining that he was greatly concerned about the outcome of the campaign and that he wanted to add another $3000 to a previous subscription of $2000. This additional subscription was made without any solicitation and is another bit of evidence showing how the welfare of the college was on the minds and hearts of her friends. A member of the class of '82 wired a subscription of $1000 from California. Many other subscriptions were received by telegram in the closing days of the campaign. Another anonymous friend of the College said that he would promise $5000 towards the completion of Sturtevant Hall provided the endowment campaign was successfully closed.

News Notes.

The first annual Illinois Congregational Young People's Summer Conference will be held this month, July 10th to 16th. Professor G. H. Scott has been appointed Dean of the Conference. The local Congregational church will send four delegates, the Reverend Mr. Stickney will be recreational director and Mrs. Stickney is to be pianist. Several Illinois College students will be in attendance at this conference.

The plans for the completion of Sturtevant Hall are nearly completed and it is hoped that bids on the work may soon be called for.

Nearly all of the rooms in Crampton Hall and Academy Hall have already been reserved. Indications point to another large registration of students in the fall.

Alden Brown '16 was a visitor at the College office Thursday. Mr. Brown is now an instructor in Kemper Military School, Missouri.

Erwin Ochsner ex '20 was a visitor in the city during the past week. Mr. Ochsner graduated from the University of Missouri Law School this spring and recently took his state examination in law.

OBITUARY

Eliza S. Ham was born December 22nd, 1844, about two miles west of Concord. She passed away July 3rd, 1922, at her home in Concord. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Whorten, who preceded her in death a number of years ago, as also her four brothers and four sisters.

She was united in marriage with Milton Ham on Sept. 19th, 1867. To this union were three sons and one daughter, namely: Elmer Ham of Roseville; Artie, of Concord; Robert Ham and Mrs. Elsie Morris of Arenzville. The deceased is survived by the aged husband and the four children before mention, also there are twelve grandchildren and two great grandchildren. She united with the Concord Christian church in September, 1873, and had been a consistent member for nearly fifty years. Mr. and Mrs. Ham had lived all of their married life in Morgan county except one year when they lived in McDonough county. The deceased had a large circle of friends who mourn her departure.

Requests for Stackers

Stacking is almost a lost art. Recently M. Greenleaf of Orleans filed a request at the Farm Bureau Office for a wheat stacker. We were unable to refer him to anyone who could do the work. Threshing out of the shock has become so common that there is little opportunity as well as incentives for any one to learn to stack. However, we suspect that in some cases that the quality of the grain would be improved thru stacking and the crop be fed on the market more generally. However, we must face the facts as they are—We have no professional stackers.

Will Exhibit at Morgan Co. Fair

J. H. Nickels and Sons of Arenzville are going to stage a Berkshire exhibit at the coming Fair that will command the respect of everyone. This firm is the only one in Morgan County that specializes on Berkshire hogs They have a record of numerous winnings at county, state and even at the International Show. Very recently they have begun breeding Polled Short Horn cattle as well as Berkshire hogs. They expect to make a showing of cattle as well as hogs at the coming Fair. The youngest member of the family, Clarence Nickel, is a member of the Morgan County Pig Club and already has three nice pigs on which he is keeping a record.

Executive Meeting Called Off

Members of the executive committee of the farm bureau are honest to goodness farmers. Out of the nine members only three were in a position to attend an executive session on Saturday, consequently the meeting was postponed. It may require a night session to clear up some matters of business that should come before the executive committee very soon.

Murrayville Livestock Shipping Association

Ira P. Story, Manager of the Livestock shipping association at Murrayville says that they have shipped three carloads of cattle and six of hogs since organization, as well as some hay. The cattle were placed on the market at a total cost of 40c per hundred and the hogs at a cost of 55c per hundred. This includes commission on selling, freight and fee for the Mnager at this end. The association will take out a membership in the Cooperative Commission Company at St. Louis and thus carry out in spirit and word the Cooperative Marketing of Livestock.

THE CHAUTAUQUAS

An American Achievement

The Chautauqua is truly typical of America and is the channel today thru which a great percentage of the American people get their durable information on world affairs, their inspiration for personal and community welfar and their ammunition for political controversy and decision. The Chautauqua is teaching people how to run their local, state and national affairs, how to improve their community and their general health, how to enrich their store of general and specialized information, how to better farmers and urbanites, how to stand upon and fight for moral issues, even how to view changed world affairs.

The Chautauqua is more spectacular and seemingly more appreciated than its twin, the Lyceum , which operates during the cooler months indoors. The Lyceum, the elder institution, originated, as has so many typical American things, in New England about a hundred years ago. The first Chautauqua was held in 1888 on the shores of Lake Chautauqua, New York.

Lyceum attendance still retains a slight margin over what might be termed its midsummer manifestation, but last year over ten million Americans attended about nine thousand Chautauquas. Over 85000 Chautauqua performances were given and over five million season tickets were sold. The totals of attendance on Lyceums and Chautauquas represent nearly a fifth of the nation's population and this bloc may well be termed a serious-thinking fifth.

The mother Chautauqua in New York is stationery and independent. Others of its type have appeared in isolated places but the great development of Chautauquas has been thru the circuit Chautauquas operated as are Lyceums thru agencys or bureaus which supply to groups of towns or towns conveniently located complete Chautauqua program, tentage, superintendent and help, chairs, advertising and everything that goes into the assembly upon a guarantee of season tickets.

Both Chautauqua "talent" and most communities desiring Chautauquas turned to the circuit plan on accont of its convenience, but the circuits provide a cut and dried program which often does not appeal to or fit the community where it is given and they give no opportunity for selection of such attractions as may be desired locally. The circuit Chautauqua makes things easy for the local management and as the bureaus operate them primarily for profit and send out capable advance men to sell them their growth has been phenomenal. There are many types of circuits as there are bureaus and agencys. Most of them provide fine programs, some of them very poor ones. There is so wide a choice among them that almost any community can have a Chautauqua even if only for three days or even three evenings. Recently there has been developed a circuit Chautauqua which is sold outright to the comunity and put on free of charge.

Some communities have followed the plan of the original Chautauqua and established independent Chautauquas. These independents are controlled and promoted solely by local committees, independent of any bureau or agency and secure their programs, equipment, etc., wherever they wish. A few agencys supply "talent" to independents. The community which has an independent Chautauqua also has back of it an organization which gives a lot of time and work to its maintenance. Its programs being selected by the local management are such as the management thinks its patrons want and, of course, if its management misjudges the wishes of the patrons, there will be a change in management or a dead Chautauqua.

There are many types of independent chautauquas. The noted Chautauquas such as Chautauqua, New York, Winona Lake, Indiana and others scattered over the country are independents. Some independents are operated purely for profit by the local management or to attract business. Probably ninety-five percent of the Chautauqua are circuits and of the four or five hundred independents not over one-half are of the type of the Jacksonville Chautauqua whose management has adopted the policy of the noted Chautauquas that of providing the best obtainable programs for the least cost to patrons as a community service for community recreation and betterment.

Thus the word Chautauqua includes many types of assemblies. There is as much difference between the Jacksonville Chautauqua and some of the circuits as between a symphony orchestra and the three fiddlers at a country dance. The word Chautauqua as commonly used refers to the circuits. On account of the comparatively small number of independents, most people do not know of any but circuits. Many communities which book 3, 4 or 5 days circuits believe they are securing some "talent" and programs the independents offer. And many people do not realize that Chautauquas are diferent or that an independent such as Jacksonville is much superior in every respect to the average small-town circuit.

The program is the big part of any Chautauqua. The men in charge of the program building strive to avoid the pitfalls of mediocrity a stale program would do a Chautauqua more harm than a risque one, though the harm might not reveal itself so quickly. The necessarily stereotyped bill of attractions must be nicely balanced, and it is toward this balance that the greater part of program building is directed.

There must be music in variety to please everyone, there must be speakers, who treat live subjects in an interesting way and have the power and ability to make good with most of the audiences and these speakers must be selected to avoid tireing the audiences —in other words each must be different—and there must be no disappointments among them and there must be entertainment and this is always a difficult matter for the better assemblies for that available in limited and great care must be exercised that nothing appears upon the program which would bring just criticism from large audiences of clean-thinking and clean-living people.

Then the programs must not give people more than they can "tote." The classical music must be balanced with the popular. The orator or speaker upon weighty subjects must be balanced with the humorous speaker or entertainer.

While no Chautauqua assumes any responsibility for the utterances of speakers from its platform, yet the positive side must be taken on all moral questions, and, if the Chautauqua would live, the programs must be selected to as to please the audiences, provide wholesome recreation and at the same time educate and elevate the community, for after all, people will not long continue patronizing anything which is merely funny or entertaining. This means that every number on the program — music, entertainment and lectures—must be considered first of all from the social or educational standpoint.

An imposing list of achievements has been placed to the credit of the Chautauqua. Chautauqua is an established and immovable institution in Amercan life—an institution as vital as the democracy itself in that it serves in a measure at least equal to and perhaps greater than that of any other agency in the dissemination and inculcation of that frank and vivid truth so necessary in the maintenance of the solidarity of a great and free nation. Typically American, it has come into being to help perpetuate that which it typifies—an enlightened liberty.

AN INTERESTING TRUCK

Yesterday afternoon one of the queerest automobiles ever seen on the strets of the city came thru town. It was a Ford truck belonging to the life saver mints Co. The body was a long cylinder painted so that it looked just like one of the companys rolls of mints. There were little windows in front for the driver and also windows in the rear of the tube. The truck was certainly a fine imitation of a roll of candy.

STOCK EXCHANGE HAS ACTIVE SESSION

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 8.—Selling for both accounts during today's short but active stock market session was largely inspired by overnight advices which directed renewed attention to the more critical conditions in continental Europe.

Rails forfeited the better part of their mid-week advances, pressure and several grangers, coalers and transcontinentals at extreme decline of 1 to 5 points.

Domestic oils were heavy thruout. Independent steels were buoyed for a time on intimations that all "merger" difficulties had overcome, but these reacted later on comparatively small offerings. Coppers, equipments, shippings and popular miscellaneous issues were included in the general recessions at the heavy to weak close. Sales amounted to 385,000 shares.

Again, excepting the rate of London, all allied foreign exchanges were lower, while the German mark fell to a new level of depreciation at a fraction under .018, rallying to a point silghtly above .019 before the close of the market.

Confirmation of recent reports that the British government is preparing to pay interest on her war obligations to this country found in the gold bars amounting to about $500,000 to be applied to that account.

The weekly returns of the clearing house banks were favorable in that they disclosed another reduction of actual loans and discounts, making a total contraction of about $153,000,000 the past fortnight. The cash gain of $21,000,000 was accompanied by an increase of excess reserves to almost $38,000,000.

Liberty Second 4s made a new high record of $100.10.

Total bond sales, par value, aggregated $10,749,000.

ALL GRAIN PRICES LOWER SATURDAY

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 8.—Effect of the situation in Germany was apparent in the action of the grain markets here today and values were lower all around. At the finish wheat was down 1½ to 2¾c with uJly $1.12 to $1.12¼ and Sept. $1.10⅜ to $1.10⅝; corn was off ½ to 2¼c, oats showed a net loss of 1⅜ to 1⅝c and provisions ranged 12½ to 55c lower.

At the inside figures September wheat showed 2¼c under the close of the previous day with rather persistent commission house selling on the way down. Concerns that usually act for seaboard accounts did some buying and local brokers were figuring on liberal quantities for shipment to the east, presumably to fill old sales abroad. Exporters were after wheat in the southwest altho no new business was claimed at the gulf. Crop reports from the spring wheat territory continued favorable and country offerings of grain to arrive remained light, except in sections where banks have been pressing producers to pay up notes.

Corn and oats were under pressure in sympathy with wheat. weather conditions generally were favorable for corn and the bulk of the private reports were optimistic, especially from the section that reheived rain of late.

Provisions were easier with some scattered liquidation in July lard. What support there was came mostly from local shorts.

CASH GRAIN REPORT

By Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 8.—Wheat in the local cash market was 1 and 2½c lower as compared with Friday's actual sales. Premiums and discounts were unchanged on all grades except No. 3 red which was slightly better. Shipping sales were 25,000 bushels. Country offerings to arrive were larger.

Corn was 1 and 1½c lower with trading basis ½ and ½c better for contract grades and 1 and ¾c higher for other grades. Shipping sales were 120,000 bushels.

Oats closed ½ and 2c lower, with trading basis unchanged. Shipping sales were 125,000 bushels. Cars insspected: Wheat 50; Corn 271; Oats, 105.
